OPERATION UNSUCCESSFUL

Carl Mays, New York Pitcher,
Who Threw Ball, Is Over-
Come With Grief

New York, Aug. 17.—Raymond Chapman, sportsman of the Cleveland American league baseball team, who was hit on the head by a ball thrown by pitcher Carl Mays in yesterday's game with the New York Americans, died in the St. Lawrence hospital at 4:50 o'clock this morning. He never regained consciousness after an operation, which was hurriedly decided on, was performed.

Shortly before it was decided to operate Manager Tris Speaker, already deeply apprehensive of his condition, telephoned news of the accident to Chapman's wife in Cleveland, who immediately started for New York.

News of his death cast gloom over the members of both teams and baseball world in general and it was decided that today's game would be called off. Carl Mays was overcome with grief when the news was told him.

Thought Ball Batted

The accident occurred at the outset of the first ball pitched. So terrific was the blow that the report of the impact caused spectators to think the ball had struck his bat. Mays, acting under this impression, fielded the ball that rebounded halfway to the pitcher's box, and threw it to first base in order to retire Chapman. Then it was noted that Chapman had collapsed at the home plate. He was lifted to his feet by other players. Then he stood dazed for a moment, staggered and crumpled up at their feet.

Physicians were immediately called from the grandstand and they administered first aid, still not knowing he had suffered a fractured skull. Two players, with Chapman's arms about his shoulders, started to walk him off the field. He appeared to walk at first almost unaided but a few moments later his legs became limp and he had to be carried bodily to an ambulance.

Manager at bedside
Manager Tris Speaker and Business Manager Walter McNichols went to the hospital immediately after the game and were at the institution when the operation was performed.

LEAGUE MUDDLE
AGAIN RENEWED
IN WATERS CASECharge of "Price for Silence"
Made and Discrepancies in Letter Shown

DID JIM QUIT TWICE?

Attacks of Nonpartisan league leaders on Jim Waters, former manager of the Bank of North Dakota, were renewed today, with continued silence by Waters on his allegations of crookedness against many league high lights.

The charge that Waters demanded $1,000 from the league as his price of silence was hurled at him. While the league leaders were taking this action against a man formerly high in league councils, others were pointing out discrepancies between the letter of resignation of Waters, originally published in the Courier-News on April 8 and the alleged photographic copy published on August 13.

Many Differences
In the first published letter the date of its writing was fixed as "March 30." In the second published letter the date is fixed as "April 1." One entire paragraph of the first published letter is missing from what is purported to be a photographic copy of the letter of resignation. Another paragraph, while similar, is written in an entirely different manner in the photographed copy as compared to the first published letter.

The paragraph in which the resignation is specifically offered in the letter of March 30 reads as follows: "I have done my duty. I now ask to be relieved of the responsibility and labor which are involved in the task. In other words, I herewith tender my resignation as manager of the Bank of North Dakota. TO TAKE EFFECT AT THE END OF MY YEAR'S SERVICE, APRIL 4, 1920." The paragraph beginning the same in the photographic copy reads as follows:

"I have done my duty. I now ask to be relieved of the responsibilities and labor which are involved in the task. I hereby tender my resignation as manager of the Bank of North Dakota to take effect April 4, WHICH WILL MARK THE FIRST ANNIVERSARY OF MY APPOINTMENT."

Waters' remarks about self-sacrifice contained in the version of April 8 cannot be found in the alleged photographic copy.

SCORES MEN
WAR CHIEFS

MRS. EMILY NEWELL BLAIR

Washington, Aug. 17.—The relationship to the government of various women's organizations engaged in war work wasn't, it seems, as smooth and harmonious as the public generally has been given to understand.

Mrs. Emily Newell Blair, official historian for the Women's Committee of the Council of National Defense, has written a report to show that there was constant clashing of feminine views with masculine orders and that there was a strong opposition among the women to men having the final and determining "say" with respect to everything proposed.

The government, it is said, held up Mrs. Blair's report for months. "We are talking plainly in our history," says Mrs. Blair, "so that the difficulties met by the women's committee may never be repeated for any other organization of women."

LABOR NEEDS OF
SECTION FILLED,
AGENT ASSERTSSufficient Harvest Help Is Secured for Burleigh County and Vicinity

The federal employment byrean here reports that enough harvest labor has been secured to supply the present demand in the immediate vicinity of Bismarck.

Just at present there are a few more men looking for harvest jobs than there are jobs to be had, but the surplus labor is rapidly being shifted to other sections of the state where labor is needed.

On the north branch there is still some demand for harvest laborers, but in the main the people of that section are harvesting their own crops. Years of poor crops have left them in debt and in many sections the women and children are helping with the harvest in order to clear as much as possible from the year's crop.

Plenty of Work Here.
The demand for some kinds of labor is still strong. The paving contractors are taking on all the new work that can be got for help with the concrete paving on Main street. The foundation company at work on the Bismarck-Mandan bridge, are in need of help and using as many men as they can get. The Colwell-Long company, building the new memorial building, can use men.

All harvest hands applying for work at the local office are being taken care of, either being sent to nearby jobs, a few of which occasionally show up, or else are directed to some section of the state where labor is needed.

Belfast, Aug. 17.—The town of Templemore, County of Tipperary, underwent a grim ordeal of reprisal last night following the murder of district inspector Wilson, according to a press dispatch received today.

The police and military turned out to avenge inspector Wilson and with bombs and bullets speedily cleared the streets. The town hall and several shops were wrecked. The disorders lasted several hours.

DRINKS POISON

South of New Salem,
Takes His Life

AFTER DOMESTIC TROUBLE

Suspected of Setting Fire to Granary—Strychnine Is Poison Route

(Special to the Tribune)
New Salem, Aug. 17.—Henry Zeulich, facing arrest, told people he would never be taken to Mandan alive. Shortly afterward he committed suicide by taking strychnine.

A series of unhappy events led to the tragic ending of the life of Mr. Zeulich, who was 67 years of age, a farmer and veterinarian.

Zeulich, according to information given Coroner Kennedy, had been quarreling with divorce papers by his wife. His wife had left the Zeulich home, about 16 miles south of New Salem, and went to the home of her daughter, Mrs. Truss, going to sleep in the granary.

Granary Fired
Sunday night the granary was set on fire, but the fire was put out before great damage had been done and Mrs. Zeulich escaped injury. Zeulich was suspected and neighbors are said to have traced buggy tracks to the Zeulich home.

Again yesterday Zeulich is said to have gone to the Truss home, apparently seeking reconciliation with his wife, but no one was at home. He then went to the Fred Ritz home, supposing she would be there. He found several people at the home. Zeulich was a shot-gun, which was taken away from him and Sheriff Olson was called from Mandan.

Zeulich is reported to have said that he would not be taken alive by the sheriff, but when the sheriff came he made no resistance. Sheriff Olson searched him, suspecting he carried a revolver, but only found a small bottle in his pocket. This apparently contained some "home brew."

Tries to Get Away
"You don't want to take that," Zeulich is said to have told the sheriff. He then asked to go to the barn and the sheriff started that way. Zeulich broke into a run, but the sheriff caught him. Zeulich drank the contents of the bottle and threw it into the grass.

The sheriff and Zeulich then got in the sheriff's car and started to New Salem. They had gone about two miles when Zeulich stiffened out and a doctor, but he died on the way, and was taken to an undertaking parlor at New Salem.

Investigation showed, according to Coroner Kennedy, that strychnine had been put in the "home brew." Zeulich had three children, one son living on the farm, a son in St. Louis and one daughter, Mrs. Truss.

According to information reaching here the difficulty between Zeulich and his wife, who was his second mate, had its inception in the disposition of insurance money left by a son who was killed in the war. The money, it was said, had been left to a brother, instead of to the parents.

A START TODAYDemocrats Meet in Convention and Will Hear Speech
by Governor

Columbus, O., Aug. 17.—Ohio Democrats were meeting here today to formally open the state and national campaign to adopt a state platform and select 24 presidential electors.

It being the home state of the head of a national ticket, leaders had planned to make the occasion one in which Gov. Cox may start the fight which they hope will round Ohio in the Democratic column at the November election.

His address is to be the main feature of the state convention.

MIDNIGHT TALK MADE HERE BY
F. D. ROOSEVELTDemocratic Vice-presidential Candidate Greeted Crowd at Northern Pacific Depot

NOT FOR PORCH CAMPAIGN

Coming Out to Meet People, He Says—Crowd Sees Hint
for Booz

Franklin D. Roosevelt, Democratic candidate for the vice-presidency, proved himself an obliging candidate when he consented to make a midnight talk in Bismarck. Arriving here on No. 3 from Jamestown, the candidate left his car and spoke briefly from a truck at Fourth street.

The train was late, and it was 12:30 o'clock before the candidate was in the midst of his short talk, but local Democratic leaders were gratified at the number of people who stayed up to hear him.

"I'd stay up all right to meet a crowd like this," said Mr. Roosevelt, as he addressed the crowd of 150 to 200 people. Mr. Roosevelt recalled previous trips to the state during the shooting season. He said that he hoped that Governor Cox would be in Bismarck in September to make a speech during the day time.

Not For Porch Campaign
"Our theory is that it is our duty to come out and go from coast to coast. We do not believe in a porch campaign."

Outlining what he said was the principal line of attack of the Democrats he said it was the difference "between progressive principles and reactionary principles."

"We are not calling the candidate names," he said, referring to Senator Harding, "but we are calling the men behind him names—men who made the Chicago convention a joke, who wrote a platform no one could understand."

Refers to T. R.
During his brief talk the candidate said he was fighting the same men in the Republican party who were thrown out of the party by a man who knew and loved this state well—Theodore Roosevelt. The reference to the name of a distant relative brought some hand-clapping which plainly was in honor of the deceased former president.

Mr. Roosevelt mentioned the league of nations only briefly. During his talk he said that the Democrats were not satisfied in giving the laboring man a full dinner pail, but that "the laboring man wants something else besides food in his stomach."

The crowd took this as a veiled thrust at prohibition, and laughter and some hand clapping followed it.

On two or three occasions the trend of Mr. Roosevelt's talk indicated an open bid for the Nonpartisan league vote.

Talks "Progressivism"
He said that Democracy offers a platform just as progressive as the people of North Dakota.

"We intend to go into the various states and learn the hard solved various problems for instance, questions such as you have gone into to learn how to get food into the hands of the consumer without too great cost."

He said that too many men were drifting to the cities and that the problem of agriculture was an important one. In closing he expressed confidence as to how this progressive state is going to answer the questions of the campaign on election day.

Mr. Roosevelt, after speaking at Valley City yesterday, made a motor trip to Jamestown, marred only by a couple of breakdowns do to tire trouble. He spoke to about 1,000 people in Jamestown, his tour manager said, who expressed himself as well pleased with the results of the trip. His next regularly scheduled stop is Billings.

Mr. Roosevelt also spoke briefly in Mandan, the train reaching there at 12 o'clock (Mandan time). At the conclusion of his talk he shook hands with many people about the train. There were about 200 people at the train.

MURDER CASE AT
STEELE REMAINS TO BE FINISHED

Kidder county's sensational murder charge brought against James C. Clayton, 60 years old farmer, by his daughter, is not a dead issue yet, said George H. Munson, state's attorney, who was in the city last evening.

The trial of James Clayton was postponed at the last session of circuit court because the farmer of the county was all busy cutting grain crops and the securing of a jury would be difficult.

After consideration of the matter Judge W. L. Nusselle and Attorney Munson decided to put the case over until the January term of court.

Clayton is now out on $1,000 bail. Relatives of Ed Litzke, the man whom Clayton is accused of killing, are continuing the work of gathering evidence and it seems probable that some new developments will come at the time of the hearing January.

of Americans Be Respected and Indemnities Paid

Mexico City, Aug. 17.—President Wilson is ready to recognize the present Mexican government if the latter agrees with the terms set forth in a proposal from Secretary of State Colby on this subject, according to a message sent to President de la Huerta from Fernando Calderon, Mexican high commissioner to the United States, now in the American capital, says the Excelsior today.

Secretary Colby's proposition according to the newspaper was:

First, that North American lives and property be respected.

Second, that indemnities be paid foreigners who suffered during the revolution.

Third, that the Carranza decrees which are found to be confiscatory be repealed.

FIERCE ATTACK
HALTS ADVANCE
OF RED FORCESRussian Pressure on Warsaw
Relief, Says Official Polish
Statement

Warsaw, Aug. 17.—The Russian pressure upon Warsaw has been relieved according to the official Polish communique just issued. The statement reports that a counter-stroke has effected this relief.

The Russian Soviet hold upon the gates of Warsaw has been broken, according to allied officers here.

The Polish counter-offensive is declared to be in full swing at various points with the Soviet forces falling back in confusion.

The statement says the Bolsheviks who have planned to cross the Vistula southeast of Warsaw in the region 35 miles from the capital were forced back.

The right wing of the fourth Polish army in breaking the Soviet resistance at Kock, took 200 Russian prisoners and captured some cannon and 14 machine guns.

The communique announces that the Poles, in following up their counter-offensive, have advanced along the entire northern front. They have pushed the Russians beyond the Wkra river. The Soviet forces retreating while Polish aviators fired on them with machine guns.

BRITISH HELP REFUGEES
Paris, Aug. 16.—The British treasury has authorized the international committee for relief credits in Paris to utilize out of the British relief credits of $1,500,000 for the purchase of foodstuffs for refugee Poles driven from eastern Poland by the onrush of the soviet army.

PERSIANS AND REDS MEET
London, Aug. 16.—Advice from Tehran report that the Persian government troops have established contact with bolshevik forces between Menjil and Kazvin, northwest of Teheran. The dispatch adds that the Persians have captured a strongly fortified bolshevik stronghold at Esmanshabad.

Paris, Aug. 16.—The Earl of Derby, British ambassador to France, conferred with Maurice Palsologue, general secretary of the foreign office, on the Polish situation and the situation arising from France's recognition of General Weygand. They examined various plans which might afford the two governments a basis for common action in their eastern European policy.

FRENCH DIRECT DRIVE
Warsaw, Aug. 17.—There were renewed signs on the front today that the French were taking more prominent part in the guidance of the Polish army. General Weygand is said to be the general responsible for the new tactics now being employed to repel the Russians.

ATTACKS SUCCESSFUL
Paris, Aug. 17.—Several successful counter-attacks have been launched by the Poles against the Russians who have been hammering at the gates of Warsaw. In the neighborhood of Chelm on the southwestern section Soviet forces which had crossed the Bug river have been hurled back while near Modlin the Poles have begun a counter-offensive, directing their attacks toward Mlava.

Military critics pointed out that the situation was better than for some time.

They also said there were indications that the Polish command had decided to make sacrifices on the southern front in east Galicia. The battle near Chelm may be the precursor of an offensive movement to draw southward Soviet forces engaged around Warsaw.

SUFFRAGE VOTE
TO BE REACHED
IN TENNESSEEDebate on Ratification Opens in Lower House of Legislature

SPEAKER SEES ITS DEFEAT

North Carolina Legislators Also Declare They Will Prevent
Women's Vote

Nashville, Tenn., Aug. 17.—Debate on the adoption of a resolution proposing ratification of the federal suffrage amendment was opened in the lower house of the Tennessee legislature with a prospect of a vote before many hours today.

The senate already has adopted the ratification resolution.

Gets Committee Vote
The committee in charge of the woman suffrage ratification resolution late last night voted 10 to 8 to report the measure with a recommendation that it be adopted. The senate ratified the suffrage amendment Friday, 24 to 5.

Speaker Walker of the house, leader of the anti-suffrage forces, said a member of the committee said the first committee ballot stood 9 to 9, and he refrained from voting. To relieve the tie one of the anti's changed his vote. This was regarded in opposition circles as an indication of how little importance was to be attached to the committee action.

Cox Urges Ratification
Governor Roberts made public the following telegram from Governor Cox, the Democratic presidential nominee:

"I earnestly hope that you will do everything in your power to aid in the immediate ratification of the suffrage amendment. It is the platform pledge of our party and one which every Democratic legislator should be proud to support."

"Great forces for good represented by the womanhood of the nation will be unloosed with the final adoption of the nineteenth amendment and I again urge your best efforts to this behalf."

Walker Promises Defeat
Speaker Walker sent the following message to the speaker of the North Carolina house of representatives:

"Have amendment defeated overwhelmingly in the lower house. We are proud of our mother state of North Carolina. God grant that she stand true to her glorious tradition and history."

A telegram signed by 63 of the 120 members of the North Carolina house, stating that they would defeat ratification by that state, was received by Mr. Walker last Thursday.

Suffragists Claim Majority
Conflicting claims as to results of the vote were made. Seth Walker, speaker and leader of the opposition, said the amendment would be rejected.

"We have ratification beaten, that is all there is to it," he declared.

Suffrage leaders still were confident they would win. They have claimed a majority in the house since the legislative session began and said if members stood by their pledges, victory was certain.

Application of the minimum wage for women under rules established by the North Dakota workmen's compensation bureau is held up today by an injunction granted by Judge A. T. Cole of district court in Fargo.

A temporary order was issued by Judge Cole late yesterday restraining the commission from putting into effect the rules and September 2 was set as the time for hearing of arguments on the petition for a permanent injunction.

The suit was filed by the Northwestern Telephone Exchange company, the North Dakota Independent Telephone company and the North Dakota Laundrymen's association.

TWELVE STATES STORM CENTERS IN FALL FIGHT

Party That Carries Central States and New York to Win, Is One View

ILLINOIS CONCEDED G. O. P.

New York, Ohio and Indiana Are Placed in Doubtful Column by Writer

BY GEORGE B. WATERS, N. E. A. Staff Correspondent.

Washington, Aug. 16.—The political battleground in the presidential election will be in 12 states.

The storm centers will be in Ohio, New York, Indiana and Illinois, waxing hottest in Ohio.

Each party is reasonably certain to carry 18 states, giving the Democrats 185 electoral votes and the Republicans 195. The Democrats must have 81 more to win and the Republicans 71.

Hottest Fights

Illinois is placed in the Republican column by both Democratic and G. O. P. dopesters, but the Democrats will carry the big fight into this territory, if for no other reason, to try to break the G. O. P. ranks and to keep the Illinois crowd out of the common battle-ground.

The party that can carry the three doubtful states, New York, Ohio and Indiana can win. There are 81 electors in those three states, three more than the Democrats would need to win and 13 more than the Republicans would require, provided both parties hold the states here conceded to them.

California is considered doubtful because Wilson carried it against Hughes by less than 5000 votes. The state is strongly progressive. The "pep" that Hiram Johnson puts into his anti-league campaign may have a bearing on the outcome in California.

Colorado has gone Democratic in five of the last six presidential elections but is now considered doubtful because a Republican senator and three Republican congressmen won by heavy majorities in 1918, despite Wilson's request that Democrats be returned.

Progressive States

Idaho is doubtful for the same reason.

Other "Doubtfuls"

Both parties put Utah in the doubtful column. Wilson carried it against Hughes by 30,000 and Bryan lost it to Taft by 20,000. It is pro-league and Progressive. Washington the same. Wisconsin is normally Republican, but it is doubtful now because it isn't known what Robert LaFollette will do.

Wyoming was carried by Wilson by 8000. The Republicans think they'll carry it this time, but they do not count it certain.

If the Republicans hold their conceded strength, and fail to carry Ohio they will have to get New York, California, Colorado, Wisconsin, New Mexico and Utah to win. Then if the Democrats should steal Illinois from them, they would have to take Montana, Idaho, Washington and Wyoming of the doubtful states to get over.

It isn't necessary for either party to have New York to win.

NEW STYLE DINER SUIT FOR MEN

BY CORA MOORE.
New York's Fashion Authority.

Right clothes are quite important part of a man's social and business equipment as of a woman's though he isn't as frank to admit it and begrudges the time and energy which keeping up to fashion's changes requires.

Here are a few hints calculated to help him to make a quick decision when it comes to acquiring a new informal dinner suit. This one, which George White wears in his "Scandals of 1920," is of conservative cut and material.

More extreme models have this same roll collar, satin-faced, but notched a full two inches lower. Also there are satin cuff bands and the pocket openings are curved instead of slanting. These features are matters of taste and in men's clothes good taste is almost invariably on the side of the conservative.

For summer wear the waist coat may be of white pique.

Silk side stripes are allowable now on the trousers of informal dinner suits where heretofore they have been reserved exclusively for the full formal evening suit.

now, and there will be 170 eventually.

The ships, which represent the nation's ill-starred adventure in wooden shipbuilding, are being gathered from all parts of the country, not for service, but for conservation until they can be sold to any interests, American or foreign, that find a use for them.

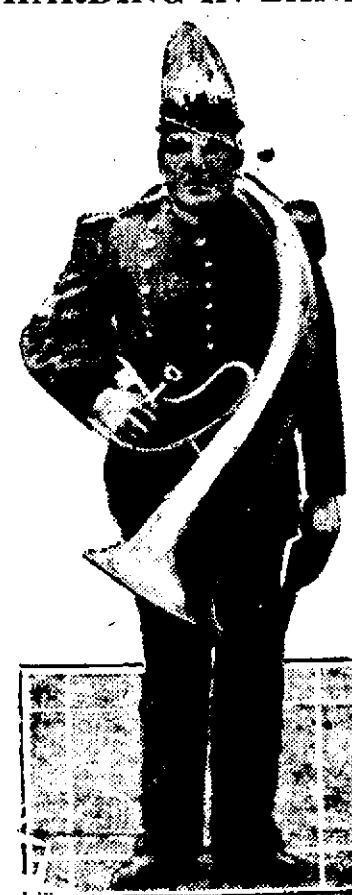

The government constructed 343 or more wooden ships during the war at a cost of $250,000,000, the greater part of which was poured into the south for the purpose of utilizing southern timber.

The construction of wooden ships was the original inspiration of William Denman, a member of the shipping board in 1917. It led to the row between Denman and General G. W. Goethals, who pronounced the wooden ship program useless and wasteful and originated the construction of fabricated steel ships on a vast scale. President Wilson finally accepted the resignation of both Goethals and Denman and the building of wooden ships proceeded on a restricted scale, imposed by Edward Hurley who then became chairman.

General Goethals' attitude appears to have been vindicated by experience. Of the 300 wooden ships built, 25 have been sold and of the remaining 250 about 85 are being operated, chiefly on short runs out of South Atlantic and Gulf ports.

The shipping board is gathering the idle wooden ships into the James river in order to effect a tremendous saving in their upkeep, according to Chairman W. S. Cram. He said they would be used to advantage as barges and, in some instances, had been put to this purpose.

EVERY CHARGE MADE BY ATTORNEY GENERAL LARGER IN HIS CAMPAIGN AGAINST POLITICAL ABUSE AND CORRUPTION HAS BEEN SUBSTANTIATED BY THE RECENT EXPOSURES IN CONNECTION WITH THE BREAK BETWEEN J. W. BRINTON AND J. R. WATERS, AND A. C. TOWNLEY AND WM. LEMKE, ACCORDING TO F. E. PACKARD, ASSISTANT ATTORNEY GENERAL.

"This is especially true in connection with the Scandinavian-American bank case," says Mr. Packard. "Mr. Brinton's letter of May 17, 1920, in which he pleaded with the Governor to demand internal reform in the league organization, declares:

"That the management of the Scandinavian-American bank is corrupt."

"That Townley attempted to unload in one batch questionable paper amounting to a quarter of a million dollars in value on the state bank, but that J. R. Waters acting as manager refused to re-discount the notes, although Director-General Cattho already had approved the transaction."

"That Mr. Waters as bank examiner knew that that bank was not in a strong condition and had not been for a long time, that the bank stock was being hoarded and held by persons not financially responsible."

Lemke Prepared Report

"That the report of the examination of the bank after it was closed by Attorney General upon orders of the State Banking board, was written and prepared by Wm. Lemke and an accounting firm in the employ of the League and that it was absolutely false."

"A most interesting statement of Mr. Brinton's is the assertion that J. J. Hastings partner of Thos. Allen Box in the notorious Valley City deal, was on orders of Mr. Lemke employed by the Bank of North Dakota after both Townley and Lemke had publicly repudiated them and branded them as crooks asserting that all relations with them had been broken. Regarding the Bank of North Dakota Mr. Brinton charges:

"That the Bank of North Dakota has failed to serve the purpose it was supposed to be founded for—that of aiding the farmers in securing necessary funds and that it has been used instead to finance Townley institutions of questionable financial standing."

"That the bank unfairly to the farmers of North Dakota is keeping 4 to 8 million on deposit in banks in

PEOPLE SAVED BIG LOSS?

Every charge made by Attorney General Langer in his campaign against political abuse and corruption has been substantiated by the recent exposures in connection with the break between J. W. Brinton and J. R. Waters, and A. C. Townley and Wm. Lemke, according to F. E. Packard, assistant attorney general.

"That the management of the Scandinavian-American bank is corrupt."

"That Townley attempted to unload in one batch questionable paper amounting to a quarter of a million dollars in value on the state bank, but that J. R. Waters acting as manager refused to re-discount the notes, although Director-General Cattho already had approved the transaction."

"That Mr. Waters as bank examiner knew that that bank was not in a strong condition and had not been for a long time, that the bank stock was being hoarded and held by persons not financially responsible."

Lemke Prepared Report

"That the report of the examination of the bank after it was closed by Attorney General upon orders of the State Banking board, was written and prepared by Wm. Lemke and an accounting firm in the employ of the League and that it was absolutely false."

"A most interesting statement of Mr. Brinton's is the assertion that J. J. Hastings partner of Thos. Allen Box in the notorious Valley City deal, was on orders of Mr. Lemke employed by the Bank of North Dakota after both Townley and Lemke had publicly repudiated them and branded them as crooks asserting that all relations with them had been broken. Regarding the Bank of North Dakota Mr. Brinton charges:

"That the Bank of North Dakota has failed to serve the purpose it was supposed to be founded for—that of aiding the farmers in securing necessary funds and that it has been used instead to finance Townley institutions of questionable financial standing."

"That the bank unfairly to the farmers of North Dakota is keeping 4 to 8 million on deposit in banks in

"I saw 10 farm plants in one day—but I didn't buy 9 of them"

"I can't write an ad, but at least I'll make out better now than I could have done the other day. Then I was just back from our county fair and fed up on peanuts, pink lemonade and lighting plants. I looked at a dozen plants and finally bought one! Whether luck or plain, ordinary horse-sense was my guide, I think I got a good one. It's a Western Electric, and even if you don't agree with me, you may find the story of what I did and why I did it helpful."

EDITOR'S NOTE: Mr. Schultz is a farmer located near Bartlett, Ill.

Maybe my outfit wouldn't suit you

"Now of course you have your own ideas on what an engine or a generator should do. So have I. It's a pretty high standard we farmers have too. I applied it without fear or favor to the plants on exhibit, and I didn't make a choice till the salesman had proved to me that his particular outfit could take care of the stiff demands I have to make on it. I need a powerful plant and found it in a Western Electric.

you learned long ago. An electric lighting plant isn't worth bothering with unless the engine can furnish extra pulley power at the same time it is charging the batteries. For the sake of a few lights a man can't afford to shut down his farm.

"So I held out for an engine that would score on this point. In an actual test I saw the pulley connected to a line shaft and running a churn, a separator and a washing machine. All this while the batteries were charging. What is more, I can switch the generator off and deliver all the engine power to the pulley."

"But when the salesman started to talk to me about what he called 'portable power,' I thought that was going a bit too far. Then he showed me what he meant—a general utility motor that you carry around the place. Just connect it up to any outlet or lamp socket, and it's ready to run your feed mixer, your grinder, your corn sheller and any other piece of machinery you otherwise would have to turn by hand. I'm not a fancy farmer and I don't go in for frills—but a man can steal a harrow from me any night if he only leaves me my utility motor.

But how about fuel and lubrication?

"The answer for me is a valve in head engine with automatic lubrication. Air cooler, and running at constant speed under any load. An engine that burns kerosene but starts on gas and runs at first on a mixture of gas and kerosene. Then this changes to all kerosene as soon as the engine gets heated up enough to take care of the heavier fuel.

How long do the batteries last?

was my first and last question. And I kept on asking it till I found somebody who could prove to me that his method of charging really meant long life to the batteries.

"The charge flows in without straining the batteries," he said, "because as they fill the flow of current gradually slackens up, till at last it is just trickling in gently and easily. No stress, no high pressure, no overflowing and loss of current. It's an automatic regulation known as the tapering charge."

"And I feel satisfied that this will settle my battery troubles once and for all."

Note: The automatic regulation of battery charge, which has proved so successful for Mr. Schultz, makes the Western Electric Power and Light Outfit strongest at its most vital point.

There is still some good territory open for live agents.

"That Director General Cattho charged his laundry bills to the state, that Lemke threatened that if Waters didn't resign that he would be prosecuted in connection with the Scandinavian-American bank deal but if he resigned quietly would be taken care of the rest of his life; that it is true that Mr. Lemke by political juggling has prevented examination of the bank, that the signatures of Waters' letter of resignation was forged and the letter not written by himself."

"That the management of the bank is a story of intrigue, dishonesty political and criminal acts and activities within the institution that equals the record of the most rotten political gang ever exposed in the United States."

"These additional revelations show that if Attorney General Langer had not so vigorously prosecuted the men responsible for the Scandinavian-American bank scandal and thus throwing their financial manipulating machinery out of gear the conditions would have become so bad by this time that the people of the state following the explosion would have found themselves with a big debt on their hands.

"Further more, this shows that Justice's Bronson Robinson and Grace had not denied Attorney General Langer the right to call witnesses when the case was before the supreme court—a right never to heretofore denied in a similar case—Mr. Langer would have convicted many others besides President Hagan."

DARING HOLDUP NORTH OF MINOT

Northgate, N. D., Aug. 16.—Two cars were held up early Thursday morning seven miles north and east of Northgate, and three miles north of the American boundary line. The hold-up was committed by four men who were driving a Nash touring car, which had a Minnesota license.

One of the cars which was held up was a Nash roadster 1920 license No. 38588 North Dakota. Holt is reported to be from Minot, was in one car, and G. Miller and R. F. Morris, of Fargo, were in the other.

The bandits robbed the occupants of both cars. During the hold-up the bandits shot two of the men in the legs. The injured were taken to a hospital and given medical attention.

MORE WHISKEY, LESS BEER, IS USED IN CANADA

Winnipeg, Aug. 16.—Statistics on customs and internal revenue indicate that Canada is drinking less liquor, but of "harder" propensities than ever before. During 1918 the value of whiskey imported was $610,023, as compared with $861,000 worth during the past year. The figures for beer are: In 1918, $59,954, and during the past year, $18,712. Which indicates more whiskey consumed and less beer. The total amount of all kinds of liquor dropped more than a million gallons.

In the whole British Empire there are available 30,000,000 horse-power to be developed by water-power.

PROVIDING FOR HOMELESS KIDS PROVES A JOY

Charles Page Gains Fame as Provider for 150 Homeless Children

WAS AN ORPHAN HIMSELF

Tulsa, Okla., Aug. 17.—As provider for 150 widows, and father to 300 orphans, Charles Page is realizing here the dream of a life that matches fiction—a life with a moral woven in.

The story of his rise from nothing to millions is really the story of a vow made in boyhood, broken in youth, and fulfilled in maturity. It is the story of success and failure alternating.

Charles Page's father died when the boy was 10, and most of the family's property went to pay the doctor's bill.

As the lad struggled for a living in a little Wisconsin village he promised himself that once he attained wealth, he would help others in the circumstances he suffered then.

Made a Fortune
After years of adversity he made his way to the northwest and took up the lumber business.

"One morning I awakened and realized I was no longer poor," he says. "I knew I had reached the point at which I had promised myself I would start helping others. And I knew I was not doing it."

The vow forgotten, Charles Page went ahead making money. A few months passed and a deal turned wrong. He went "broke." He looked upon the wreckage of his fortune and once more vowed he would help others if he were able—again.

His second success came after he had been through the Cripple Creek gold rush, and had come to Oklahoma and the oil fields.

Builds Orphans' Home.
On the present site of Sand Springs seven miles from here, he had a tent pitched. He sent a family of seven orphaned children there, and hired a man to care for them. From that time on, the Sand Springs Orphans' Home has grown.

The Page foundation is not an "asylum." It is truly a home. Children taken there consider it such. Some of them marry from it. Boys are given starts in business. Scores find the work they prefer in the various Page enterprises.

Welcome to All
The home does not cease as such when its inmates attain majority. It

WHY SUFFER SO?

Why suffer from a bad back, from sharp, shooting twinges, headaches, dizziness and distressing urinary ailments? Bismarck people recommend Doan's Kidney Pills. Could you ask for stronger proof of merit?

G. L. Sheldon, 223 3rd St., S. Bismarck, says: "The winter of 1917 I was in bad shape with kidney trouble. The rheumatic trouble was the worst symptom of my complaint and I suffered terribly. My kidneys didn't act right and the secretions contained a brick-dust sediment and were highly colored. I doctored for a time getting no relief and finally started using Doan's Kidney Pills and in a week's time I was able to be on my feet again. I continued taking them and in three months I was cured. I have never had a return of the trouble since, thanks to Doan's Kidney Pills."

25,000,000 IN SMALL QUARTERS, BUREAU REPORTS

Washington, Aug. 17.—Approximately 25,000,000 persons in the United States are living in temporary, crowded and sometimes unsanitary quarters, according to officials of the United States Housing corporation.

"The nation is short more than 5,000,000 dwellings and apartments," said Chief Engineer Chase of the corporation, today. "All hope of improvement must be deferred until next spring. Building has practically stopped. It will take the country five years to catch up."

This means rents will continue to soar this winter, it is believed here. "The housing situation now is acute than at the close of the war period when practically all building had been halted three years," said Mr. Chase.

SWEDEN LOOKS TO NORTHWEST FOR BUSINESS

Establishment of Branch of Swedish Chamber of Commerce Planned

Minneapolis, Minn., Aug. 17.—Establishment of a branch of the Swedish Chamber of Commerce in Minneapolis, to handle a trade with the northwest which promises to amount to millions of dollars every year, has been recommended to headquarters of the chamber, Theophilus Wessen, Swedish royal vice-consul in Minneapolis, has announced.

Probability that the Swedish chamber will open offices here was increased today, he said, by formation of the first corporation ever organized in the northwest to conduct a direct export and import business with Scandinavia. Articles of incorporation, creating the United States Exporting and Importing company, were drafted today for formal approval Monday.

Just H. Von Werdenhoff, who came to Minneapolis as representative of Swedish business houses, said today that within the last year the northwest's trade with Sweden, after dropping almost to nothing during the world war, has increased to $500,000 with prospects that direct commerce, centering in Minneapolis, can be expanded to millions of dollars annually. Information of the new firm is the first practical result of a trade survey begun by the Swedish consulate six months ago. Mr. Wessen said today. "At that time the vice-consul listed all northwest firms which had business relations with Sweden before the war, and sent out 500 inquiries as to possibility of reviving and expanding the northwest's trade with Scandinavia. Practically every firm replied, expressing hearty encouragement for the project."

"The replies demonstrated there are tremendous possibilities for trade between Sweden and the northwest, with Minneapolis as its center," he said. "Many northwest businessmen

Caring for Baby During Hot Spells

Be watchful of food and keep bowels open with Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin

THE young mother soon learns from experience that summer days are often days that try her patience. The heat makes baby peevish, restless and cross. Foods that in colder weather were easily digested, now seem to cause distress.

Whether the milk or the grain is at fault, see that the bowels move regularly. There is nothing that causes greater discomfort in the summer than constipation. It heats the blood and causes nervousness, headache, fever, colds and a host of minor ills. In these little ailments it is always well to suspect constipation and give half a teaspoonful of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. It is a combination of simple laxative herbs with pepsin, and the most ideal medicine you can give a baby. It is mild and gentle in action, never gripes and tastes good.

FREE Millions of people of all ages suffer from occasional or chronic constipation. Let them send name and address to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 512 Washington Street, Monticello, Ill., for a free sample bottle of his wonderful Syrup Pepsin. A million bottles were bought at drug stores last year, the largest sale in the world.

An official report on results of his survey was forwarded to the Swedish government.

Officers of the new corporation are Andrew G. Johnson, Lewis Himmelman, Per M. Larson and Oscar Bodin.

Big American Flour Credit Also Helps—Fuel Reserve Accumulation Hit by Strikes

Vienna, Aug. 17.—Bountiful crops of early fruit and vegetables and promise of an abundance of harder later yields from field and orchard, with the big American flour credit still available for the ration of daily bread have given Austria a reprieve from the terrible hardships of last winter.

Fats are as scarce as ever, however, but in this "grievous" weather their need is not so keenly felt. Meat, too, is scanty and high, beyond reach of the masses. The American flour credit will be exhausted before the winter sets fairly in and no man in Austria knows from where or by what means it will be replaced.

Strikes and disturbances in the Teutonic coal fields, the situation in Silesia, virtual suspension of the Hungarian supply, little as it was and, finally, Austria's inability to enforce even the meagre contractual supplies from Bohemia, have prevented the hoped for accumulation of a modest fuel reserve during the summer months. Public utilities of Vienna are reported to have but a week's reserve of coal for power and light and less than a month of gas coal at a minimum consumption. The last Austrian pig iron oven in operation has just drawn its fires for lack of coke.

Curious Business Phase.
Into this situation has been injected a curious business phase resulting from the increased value of the crown on foreign exchange. In the late winter and early spring the crown dropped as low as 150 to the dollar on private exchange. Encouraged by this a small export trade was nourished. Austrian factories, famous for certain forms of finished articles, began to resume operations on a limited scale, foreign buyers seeing a good business chance in the low crown value against standard monies.

Manufacturers were able to get advances of credit to secure coal and needed raw materials. It was a speculation for foreign values. Then the minister of finance, Dr. Reisch dropped a hint one day during a debate in the assembly that it would be wise if Austrian retail sellers were to raise their crown prices to the equivalent of foreign values. They did it. A suit of clothes that cost from 3,000 to 4,000 crowns rose in price to from 15,000 to 18,000 crowns. Everything else went up in proportion.

Forced Crown Up.
Then the government, acting on the same principle, is reported to have gone on the Zurich exchange which controls crown quotations with large amounts of foreign money and forced the crown up. Their efforts were assisted unexpectedly by an influx into Austria of foreign money speculators. Appreciation of the monies of the other countries of central and eastern Europe made this their last field for speculation. Pounds, dollars and francs became plentiful with small demand and the crown rose in value until the official price was 130 to the dollar and 150 in private deals. Retail prices continued to go up, so that with the rise in the crown eating foreign values one-half the plan literally "cut its own throat."

Foreign buyers quit. Retail trade stagnated. Native Austrians did not know whether to laugh or cry at a straw hat in a window bearing the price mark of 2,000 crowns. But they were not sold.

The next step in the reaction hit the basic industries. The few factories running have begun to curtail or close down as orders are cancelled and new contracts fail to come. The ministry of socialism is besieged with requests from manufacturers to be permitted to discharge employees. It being reported that as high as twenty a day have been recently received.

LACY APRONS TRANSFORM PLAIN FROCKS

BY CORA MOORE, New York's Fashion Authority.

NEW YORK, Aug. 14—Of all the summer's fashion fancies none is prettier or more practical than the apron effects. Just a bit of net or lace or batiste or, more likely, a combination of all three, and a plain, dull taffeta frock or a prosaicingham becomes a perfect duck of a gown, cool-looking enough for the warmest day or comfortable-looking for a cool day.

Aprons like the model of the sketch, might be made of handkerchief linen or of white georgette with cluny insertions and motifs of applique lace for the corners. Another of colored embroidery on batiste would be useful, with the scalloped edge turned up from the waist for a bib, and a broad hemstitched hem turned up for the bottom with a satin ribbon for strings.

(Established 1878)

WHERE WILL YOU BE?
A national bank has compiled statistics which show that, 40 years hence—
Out of every 100 healthy young men now 25 years old,
36 will be dead,
1 will be rich,
4 will be wealthy,
5 will be working to support themselves, and
54 will be dependent upon relatives, friends or charity.
Forty years hence! Sounds unbelievable, doesn't it? Yet it is proved by the records of one of the biggest, most reliable banks in the middle west.

See America now—before railroad rates go up!

MAKING GOOD
There are many different ways of making good. Great artists, scientists, inventors, jurists, doctors, deserve the world's respect and get it.
But there is a fashion in such matters, and in the world today the thing that people strive for most is money, not to supply their needs, but to prove their power. And so there is no end to the amount that those who play the game will struggle to amass.
Now a man can create wealth by attacking Nature with improved appliances, "making two blades of grass grow where one grew before," or he can simply take it from his fellowmen without creating anything. "It makes a difference which, for the first enriches the world. But a cheap man does not know the difference. He simply sees the prize and grabs for it. And so he exploits his fellows if he can, and then asks them to respect him for doing it. And after awhile they generally do.
And thus the game goes on, class warring against class and nation against nation—all for the cheap satisfaction of saying: "I am the king of the castle. Get down, you dirty rascal." Jesus said, "I am amongst you as one that serveth." But he had no money. So those who play the game believe that he really made good?

Even with his recent defeat, General Wood has it all over General Villa for political safety.

PICTURES WITH PUNCH
Best sellers are not being written rapidly enough for the producing companies of the silent drama. And so the big directors are looking for other ideas. They must be finding them for they tell us that "Deserted At the Altar" will be reeled out in the east soon.
And the chances are that the rising generation, following plenty of sugar and sirup of the best sellers in screen drama form, are ready for a little bit of the blood, thunder, punch and pep of the old books and old plays.
Gee, wouldn't you like to see "Across the Pacific" on the screen? Or that dime novel classic, "Deadwood Dick," with the rolling western country, the wild Indians and the stage holdups, with the messenger throwing down the express box containing the $500,000. And wouldn't it be forth while to spend an hour in the home of the silent story with "Wedded, But No Wife," tripping through the camera? Just think of Bertha M. Clay titles, and her millions of readers of long ago that are potential patrons of the movie house now! Wouldn't these titles drag them in! "Wife in Name Only," "Her Soul at Stake," "Gladys the Governess," "The Manor Mystery," "Who Murdered Lord Ralban?"
As a woman has said: "Give the women a good hot mystery, a wild, wild love affair, a drowning in the old mill pond at midnight and you'll catch and hold their interest." That goes for the men, too.
There must be thousands who'd like very much to see the screen version of "Nellie, The Beautiful Cloak Model!"

More baby wars than war babies came out of the World War.

The roots of evil are said to be in bad teeth, so experts have been examining the molars of Sing Sing convicts to learn the cause of their crimes.
New census figures, showing 105,000,000 population, will result automatically in 69 more congressmen—on top of the present oversupply of 435.

If Mitch Palmer can be prevailed upon not to interfere with coal prices, they may go down.
Will someone kindly inform the butcher that the wholesale price of beef has been going down for some time now?

The association which proposes to eliminate the cockney dialect in London should get some advice from the American Anti-Slang Society before tackling the job.

EDITORIAL REVIEW
Comments reproduced in this column may or may not express the opinions of The Tribune. They are presented here in order that our readers may have both sides of important issues which are being discussed in the press of the day.

CONJURING WITH A NAME
Far be it from us to censure the Democratic management for its quite obvious intention of capitalizing to the utmost the name of Roosevelt on its national ticket. On the contrary, it must be set down as a shrewd move, albeit it is a play to the assumption of ignorance. Undoubtedly Roosevelt is a name to conjure with, politically.
Yet it suggests two interesting reflections: The Democrats who are rolling the name over their tongues with loving unction are many of them the same men who, while the Great American was alive, employed those tongues to deprecate and even vilify him. And if that great American were now alive, how energetically he would bend his powerful effort to defeat the ticket on which that name appears and the party which cunningly seeks to reincarnate him in his name-sake!—St. Paul Pioneer Press.

SEALING THEIR LIPS.
No autocracy in Washington. The notice that follows has been posted in all the bureaus and divisions of the postoffice department in Washington and elsewhere throughout the United States:
The attention of the department has been called to many circulars and letters issued by persons connected with the postal service which contain erroneous statements and are not based on facts. The postal service is conducted in the interest of the public, and the public is entitled to correct information at all times regarding this branch of the government service; and the department will gladly and willingly furnish such information. Employees of the postal service, in making any statement about the postal establishment or its service, who make false or slanderous statements will be summarily dismissed from the service. Postmasters and officers of the service will be held responsible for the enforcement of these instructions.

That is Postmaster General Burleson's idea of postal efficiency—gag the men of the service, that they may not dare to talk of the rottenness in the service. Those who do so talk will be dismissed summarily—without trial, without hearing. Men in the postal service have been talking; beyond any doubt they have talked. Better than the postal employees, no others can know how bad the Burleson administration is and all that Burlesonism means. Ask the first postal employee you meet, should you know him well enough to have his confidence, and from him you will get a round, unvarnished tale of the inside of things. The postmaster general seems to conceive that if he can gag men in the service, and kick them out summarily when they talk of him and his crew of misfits, the country will not know how wretchedly it is served.—Ft. Wayne (Ind.) News and Sentinel.

EFFICIENCY IN FARMING
Secretary Meredith recently was asked to explain some specific instances of the benefits farmers are receiving from the department of agriculture. Among the many he mentioned of outstanding interest is the remunerative utilization of corn cobs which for years were considered worthless except for use in kindling fires.
Chemists have discovered that at least half a dozen products may be derived from the cobs and plans are being developed by the department to turn this by-product of the farms into a valuable commodity. The United States produces nearly 20,000,000 tons of corn cobs a year. Out of each ton, according to Mr. Meredith, 30 pounds of furfural can be manufactured at a cost of only 20 cents a pound. Furfural is a basic intermediary in dyes and has been so rare that it has sold for as much as $20 a pound. On this basis the value of America's cob crop, if manufactured into this one chemical, would amount to an enormous amount.
This is only one proof of the value of the scientific investigation and efforts to promote crop improvement by the department of agriculture. Many more are mentioned in the official's statement. Apparently great opportunities lie ahead of our agriculturists. Efficiency has made manufacturing industries much more profitable than they were a decade ago. The improvement in that branch of endeavor has been developed thru extensive investigation. Agriculture, our greatest industry, has not kept up the pace set by manufacturing. In the face of labor problems and the need of greater financial returns the importance of efficiency and less wastefulness become apparent. The department of agriculture can render a large service in educating the country to utilize more fully its by-products and valuable crops.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Washington, Aug. 17.—Is La Follette to run as a Third Party candidate after all? From a telegram just received here it looks as if the answer might be yes. The wire comes from Michigan and reads: "Liberal Party successfully launched in Michigan tonight—Petitions being filed—Funds raised—Committees appointed—State convention will be held soon and formal organization completed—People here enthusiastic."
All of which appears to mean that the Forty-Eighters have persuaded La Follette to run as a "Liberal Party" candidate anyhow.
Which may mean that the Farmer-Labor Party candidate, Perley J. Christensen, will withdraw. Shortly after his nomination in Chicago Christensen said he would withdraw if La Follette could be induced to enter the race.

A lemon, between the jaws of a liberal amount of juice to the first firm squeeze.
The juice is there and it doesn't take much pressure to bring it out. As the pressure increases the juice does not increase in proportion—a very hard squeeze produces only a moderate amount of juice and after awhile the juice stops flowing except for a few straggling trickles.
It's the same way with raising transportation rates—freight and passenger—railways and traction companies. The first vigorous increase in rates squeezes out a considerable revenue.
But as the rates are sharply increased the income is not increased in proportion. In fact, a point is soon reached where there is no increase and after that the revenue falls off.
The rate becomes "prohibitive." The passenger—if it be a street car company—walks to save the eight cents. Or if it be a railway company the traveler stays at home, or confines his trips to bare necessity.

The jobber takes his salesman off the road and does business by mail. The freight seeks a local market by truck. Or it may even rot on the ground or line in the warehouse unused.
No matter how hard a squeezed lemon is squeezed it will not give juice.
The other end of this proposition is illustrated by the excursion. Special low rates are made—large extra equipment is brought into use and by carrying a thousand persons for half the rate the company makes as much money as it would make by carrying 500 people for double the rate, and in the second illustration it has given service, which, after all, is one of the purposes for which such concerns exist.

Yes, Mr. Ultimate Consumer, you are the lemon.

Mr. Charles Grewe Tells How Cuticura Healed Pimples
"I had pimples and itching enough to set one crazy. My face, neck, arms and back were covered with pimples and they later became an entire scalp so that I looked horrible. I was ashamed of myself. Many nights I did not sleep, and I soon became nervous. The pimples were hard and red, and were very large, and I scratched the parts affected.
"I saw an advertisement about Cuticura Soap and Ointment so I sent for a free sample. I bought more, and I used four cakes of Cuticura Soap and two boxes of Cuticura Ointment which healed me." (Signed) Charles Grewe, 215 South 3th St., St. Paul, Minn., Mar. 27, 1919.
How to Have a Clear Skin
Having cleared your skin keep it clear by using Cuticura Soap and Ointment for every-day toilet purposes and Cuticura Talcum to powder and perfume. Bathe with Cuticura Soap and hot water; using plenty of soap, best applied with the hands which it softens wonderfully. If signs of pimples, redness or roughness are present, scrub lightly with Cuticura Ointment before bathing to soothe and heal.
Cuticura Soap shaves without soap.

GERMANY IMPORTS LUXURIOUS ARTICLES AS POOR SUFFER

Berlin, August 17.—Since the raising of the blockade, Germany has imported 10,000,000 marks' worth of silks, perfumes, chocolates, oranges, cigarettes and other luxuries from abroad, and the poor are clamoring for oatmeal and condensed milk, according to German advocates of "the simple life."
A new movement known as the League for the Rejuvenating of Germany, which preaches plain living and high thinking, a return to old-time simplicity, coupled with a revival of intellectuality as opposed to the crass materialism of the present day, has been started here. It depreciates the daily issuance of 26,000,000 marks in paper currency by the government.
An appeal is made to the people to confine themselves to the essentials of life—no more foreign-made or clothes or luxury foods, no more expensive pleasure trips abroad, no more costly presents.
The promoters, among whom are former Finance Minister Count Roeder; the economist expert Walter Rathenau and a dozen well-known professors and social welfare workers, emphasize that they are not ascetics nor prohibitionists but that they make a plain appeal to the common sense of the people to restrict their general expenditure for the sake of the Fatherland.
It is claimed for the movement that it is entirely nonpartisan and that it has the official endorsement of the government.

With the Movies
ELTINGER
A trick used by crooked gamblers is illustrated in "The Sporting Duchess," which will be shown at the Eltinge theatre tonight. The practice is very common and one that is checked only by exposure. It requires a confederate, a disinterested person, who moves about the room glancing at the various hands. He never speaks and is apparently unconcerned. At the proper distance he manages to signal to his partner in a manner that would be unnoticed. This is done by placing the hand against the wall, on a table or back of a chair.
Two fingers together indicates a pair, three together three of a kind, and so on. The thumb and forefinger together, the forefinger separated from the middle finger and the last three fingers together would indicate a full house. Any combination in

WOMAN IS MADE OFFICE MANAGER

The Rusk Radiator Co., Fargo, N. D. has a new office manager—a woman, Miss Almada LaFleur.
"Why not?" asks F. L. Watkins, Pres., Dakota Business College, Fargo, N. D., of which school Miss LaFleur is a graduate. "We constantly get more calls for trained help than we can supply, both men and women. We expect to be called on for 1000 or more students during the coming school year."

Thus Major Mostyn places the Duke of Desborough in his power. He ruins the duke, separates him from his wife and causes Clipstone, the duke's horse, to be sold.

BISMARCK
"The tussle has been so real that both combatants were too exhausted and groggy to hold still enough for a good photograph."
This is the apology that Jacques Jaccard, director of "Desert Love," the intense western drama which is coming to the Bismarck theatre tomorrow sent with a set of pictures to the William Fox execution office in New York. It speaks eloquently for the intense realism of Tom Mix's acting.
The fight occurs in, and old, deserted mill. Mix has just crushed into the place through a window and immediately a terrific fight develops between him and Lester Cuneo, playing the heavy. They fight for their lives, and Mix also for the honor of the woman he loves. Like infuriated beasts they rush at each other, and the struggle sweeps onward like a hurricane. Blood—real blood—flows from both men.
Little wonder that the director was unable to get good "stills" after such an exhausting ordeal.

HEALTH ADVICE

BY UNCLE SAM, M. D.
Health Questions Will Be Answered if Sent to Information Bureau, U. S. Public Health Service, Washington, D. C.

SLEEPLESSNESS.
During sleep, the circulation of blood through the brain is much diminished, and the constant stimulation of the brain ceases from without. Each cell within, which occurs during the waking hours, is suspended. During this rest the individual cells restore materials which their activities have dissipated and so prepare for the work of the next waking period.
Sleep is thus absolutely essential to the rest of the nervous system. Even the conscious body activities, such as the contractions of the heart, are least during sleep, and consequently more rest is obtained for the organs involved than at any other time. More by practice than by scientific experiment, it has been decided that eight hours sleep is the usual requirement for good health; many persons are better off with 10 to 12 hours.
Persons in good health and of regular habits rarely have difficulty in getting to sleep at night. Sometimes, however, one goes to bed and lies there awake and wondering why he cannot sleep. Nervous agitation is a common cause, as it prevents the processes, described above, as operative in producing sleep. Unusually high temperature, too much or too little bed clothing, or other causes, as one to warm or too cold is apt to be wakeful. Indigestion is sometimes to blame. Measures to overcome such sleeplessness involve avoidance of the causes—heavy night meals when generally exhausted, or causes producing nervous excitement at bedtime.
Measures to overcome sleeplessness due to indigestion, include evacuation of the bowels, and if an overloaded stomach causes distress, the emptying of the stomach by vomiting.
Fresh air, through an open window, is always very desirable, and in cold weather one must have sufficient, but not too many, bedclothes to keep warm.
Constantly recurring sleeplessness may be due to other and more serious causes, and a person so afflicted must have careful examination by a physician.

Q. Please give me information on how to care for convalescents from "stroke" or "shock."
A. These two conditions are entirely dissimilar and it is very clear that what you really need is the advice of a physician who has carefully examined the patient and is familiar with his condition. In cases of "stroke," for example, everything will depend upon the character of the present symptoms, where there is any paralysis, and if so what muscles are affected, and whether the mental condition is fairly clear, or entirely cloudy.

Paper flywheels are coming into general use. The tensile strength of paper is enormous, hence its advantage over iron for this purpose.

GROCER THANKFUL

"I had been sick nearly 20 years with stomach trouble and was slowly starving to death as everything I ate caused terrible gas and pain and my food did not digest. I was reduced to 115 pounds. A friend advised me to take May's Wonderful Remedy and a month ago, which I did and now weigh 151 lbs., and can eat anything. I am very thankful for May's Wonderful Remedy." It removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract, and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded at druggists everywhere.

ENRICHED BY DEED OF 1848

Finding of Ancient Document Raises Woman From Comparative Poverty to Wealth.

New York.—The finding of an old deed, dated November 21, 1848, has elevated Mrs. Mary A. Barney of Jaggar avenue, Flushing, from comparative poverty to wealth. Her fortune is estimated well into five figures. The ancient document has been lost for more than 20 years. It gives ownership rights to 16 acres of property at Oyster bay, L. I., overlooking the sound.

The deed, which was found among some old papers, conveyed the property to Daniel Baymon, Mrs. Barney's grandfather, 72 years ago, but as it had been mislaid, Mrs. Barney was unable to obtain possession of the property. Upon its discovery, however, the present occupants agreed to vacate, and as soon as the legal technicalities have been gone through Mrs. Barney will become undisputed owner.

The deed stipulated $100 as the nominal sum paid for the property in 1848, and it is said that present valuation ranges into hundreds of thousands of dollars.

Modern Sampson Unhurt By Toppling Building

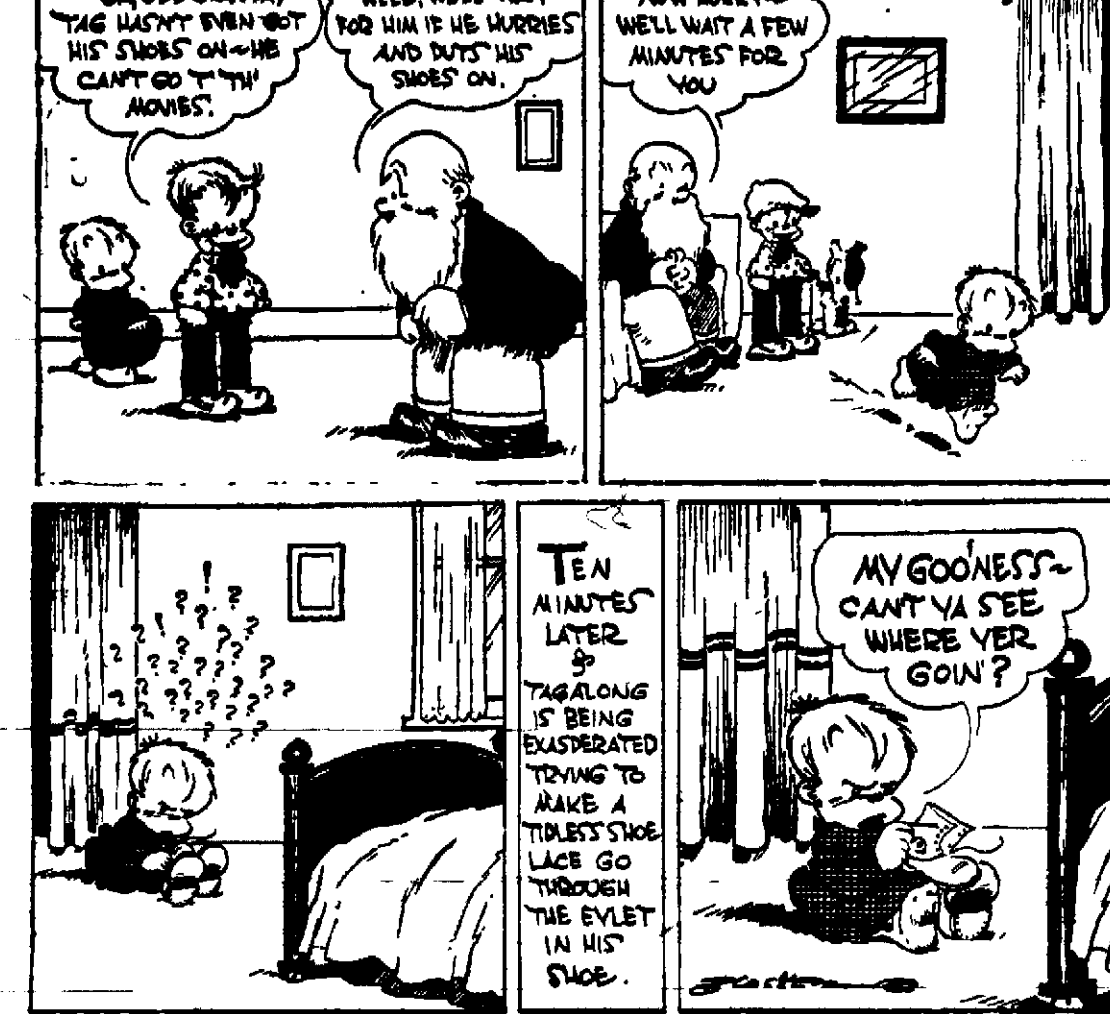

Sampson was pretty good at handling buildings but he could boast of no superiority over John Pettibone, a New York city laborer.

After a two story frame building had toppled over on Pettibone, and the employees, whose lives he had saved by his shout of warning, together with a detail of police and two fire companies had dug him out, Pettibone walked disdainfully home, leaving the ambulance and pulmonary crevas rubbing their eyes.

A machine for electrocuting insects in packages of cereals is being used by an American company.

DELAYS PEACE PLANS

Red Cross Official Claps Envoys into Quarantine.

Diplomats Entering Esthonia Stripped and Scrubbed and Their Clothes Disinfected.

Reval, Esthonia.—When the soviet commission to negotiate peace with Esthonia recently crossed the lines into the city of Narva on its way to Reval, its members were promptly clapped into quarantine by the American Red Cross typhus fighters, and, in spite of desperate protestations and citations of diplomatic privilege, were forcibly detained for thorough disinfection before being permitted to proceed.

The Red Cross quarantine regulations at Narva prescribed that no person could leave the town without disinfection and a clean bill of health. No exceptions have been allowed to this rule since the Red Cross undertook the typhus fight here. The soviet emissaries were stopped at the railway station and asked for their Red Cross permits to travel. In answer they showed Esthonian diplomatic safe-conducts and demanded that they be passed immediately. A Red Cross officer was called. He waved away the safe-conducts without ceremony and ordered the diplomats to report at once for disinfection or prepare to remain in Narva until the lifting of the quarantine. Hot words on the part of the Russians followed, but the Red Cross official was adamant.

Finally, breathing threats and protests, the emissaries marched with their luggage from the station to the disinfecting post. Lusty hands, little heedful of the diplomatic sacredness of their persons, stripped them of their clothes, scrubbed them ruthlessly, and rolled them in blankets to await the disinfection of their garments and luggage. Not until every scrap of their belongings, even to diplomatic documents, was thoroughly disinfected, were the peace envoys allowed to depart, every whisker standing on end with suppressed rage.

HAS MUCH TO COMPLAIN OF

Divorce Petition of Colorado Man Contains a Long List of Grievances.

Denver.—One of the longest lists of grievance against a wife ever filed in the district court is contained in a bill of particulars in support of John Bothwell's complaint in divorce against Margaret Bothwell.

These are some of the acts of which Bothwell complains:

"That she told his friends that he was entertaining and as funny as a crutch.

"That she was a confirmed flirt, and by her actions prompted men to stop and talk with her.

"That she smoked cigarettes.

"That she told him she did not love him, and named another man whom she said she did love.

"That she repugned his demonstrations of affection and told him she couldn't stand having him around.

"That she told him he had a ham job and wasn't earning enough money."

TWO MILLIONS TO CHARITY

Harriet Blanchard Will Also Leave Bequests to Churches and Educational Institutions.

Philadelphia.—Charitable and religious organizations were left more than $2,000,000 under the will of Harriet Blanchard of this city, who died about a year ago. The will was probated.

The bequests include $250,000 to the domestic and foreign missionary society of the Protestant Episcopal church, $25,000 to the trustees of the general clergy relief fund of the Protestant Episcopal church. Others were:

University of Pennsylvania, $100,000; American Church Institute for Negroes, $100,000; Hampton Normal and Agricultural Institute, $200,000; Tuskegee Institute, $100,000.

Street Boss Quits Job to Be Better Paid Laborer

Because laborers he employed in street work are making more than the $100 a month paid him for directing the work, John Ackley has presented his resignation as street commissioner to the town council of Hacketts-town, N. J.

In an emergency the council increased the pay for unskilled labor, but overlooked an increase in pay for the man who had to superintend the work. Ackley decided it would be more profitable to quit and seek a job by the day in his own department.

Eight Hour Day Pony.

Martins Ferry, O.—William R. McMahon who hauls mail from the railroad station to the post office, has a pony which refuses to work over eight hours a day. When his eight hours are up the pony is through. In case a train is late and the pony is apt to be kept beyond the specified time, McMahon finds it necessary to return to the station and bring down another horse.
